A screenshot of the Windows Live Hotmail interface. At the top left is the Windows Live logo. Below it is a navigation bar with links for Home, Profile, People, Mail, Photos, More, and MSN, along with a search box. The main heading is "Hotmail Options". Below this, there is a breadcrumb trail: "Options > Export contacts". The "Export contacts" section is highlighted in orange. It contains a paragraph explaining that contacts can be exported to a CSV file. Below the text is a button labeled "Export contacts" with a blue mouse cursor pointing at it. On the left side, there are links for "Go to inbox", "Offers", "Free newsletters", "Related places", "Today", "Contact list", and "Calendar". At the bottom left, there is a small graphic with the text "So, what do you think?" and two stylized figures.
